Personal Profile:

Jon has significant senior management experience, operating at board level for many years with considerable international experience. He has had global P/L responsibility for multi-million turnover businesses, with operating centers in multiple locations across the world. Jon is a professional Mechanical Engineer - a Fellow of the Institute of Mechanical Engineers with a Masters in Business Administration. Jon currently has a global business responsibility for Primetals Technologies, with his home in Sheffield.

Jon is a past President of the Sheffield Chamber of Commerce & Industry and Siemens' executive sponsor of the University of Sheffield. Jon has a passion for ensuring the country continues to produce the world's best engineers. Originating from the North East, he is married with four children, born and bred in Sheffield. He has resigned himself to accepting that none will support Middlesbrough Football Club, despite all his efforts.

Jon's skills are:

- Extensive executive management experience with direct P/L accountability
- Considerable International experience
- Technical, commercial and business acumen
