Personal Profile:  Mark Holmshaw  I worked for Canon Medical Systems (formerly Toshiba Medical Systems) for 30 years in a variety of roles. From April 2012 to April 2017 I was Vice President for Sales, Service and Marketing Europe representing more than 50 countries culminating in my appointment as President and CEO Europe of the organization in April 2017.  I was also a founder member of the Global Marketing team. I fulfilled this role until April 2020 when I stepped back from this position and became Global Executive Advisor to the President of Canon Medical Systems Global.  From April 2021 I will start my own consultancy company dealing with strategic sales and business transformation opportunities and have contracts already in the Middle East, Africa and India.  I am a passionate individual that looks to help our youth with the opportunity to fulfil their potential and become the next generation of business leaders, hopefully helping them to attain the skills needed for this purpose.  Skills are:  Business Leadership and Development Understanding of large complex organizations.
